Upcoming events at IAM!

The Apollo Project

IAM is pleased to host Dean Karafa on Thursday, October 21, at 7pm as he speaks about the Apollo 11 mission. Dean was a test engineer for the first stage of the Saturn V for NASA at the Kennedy Space Center. The Saturn V was, and is to this day, the most powerful rocket ever launched and necessary to complete a manned lunar mission. Dean will present a number of artifacts, from the program, including the actual countdown document from the Apollo 11 mission, as well as slides showing various aspects of the Saturn V.
